

NATIONAL INTEGRATION

National integration is meaning the togetherness of people of country irrespective of the differences of religion, race, region, caste and culture.

India is a country in which one can find multi races and multilingual people. Diversity is the feature of India. But the culture of India is very different. I India one can find unity in diversity.

During ancient times in India there were many small kingdoms and kings was busy to find to take the political power of one other. In last century British people was ruling over India and the rulers disturbed the national integration if country by divide and rule policy.

Because of these some people of India became against India. Presently in India on the basis of religion and language people are demanding division of country. If the economy of India develops sufficiently then only the agitation of people will stop. It is required to preserve the national integrity of India. There should be brotherhood among people for stabilized citizenship and the growth of country.

Our country has many culture, languages, religions, faith and regions apart from that the people of India creates unity and commonness There should be allotment of unity because of differences in languages, religion and culture the people are becoming diverse.

Power of National Integration:

Since we have got Independence, there has been lot of differences caused among people due to religion and politicians were talking about national integration of country. In our country there are billions of people, together they can make a developed country. It is very necessary among people to create bond of unity, so that they can live peaceful. If people of India will constitute for the proper national integration they can make our country to achieve heights and we can be developed.

Because of large population of India if people of India get united then the human resources of India can make it to developed country.

Lack of national integration:

During ancient times there was diverse people and very bad national integrity. Nowadays our nation has done many changes, but to combine people is not possible because of many issues.

It is impossible in India to maintain national integration. There is a lot of crowd in India people are separated by their religion but they are still living together.

National disintegration can destroy the image of country. Because of lack of integrity people suffer from many humiliations.

National disintegration is the source of crises in country.

National Disintegration:

There are many types of people who make disintegration because of the differences in culture, religion and languages. In history thousands of Mughal soldiers conquered the nation because the native rulers were not united together. In spite of it they were working against each other and helped the enemies. The most significant national disintegration was held when Rajputs, Jats, the Sikhand the Maratha were against each other. All people were separated by religion and fought with each other.

Nowadays British language English has taken place in the country. Indian people talk in English.

Britishers has brought many changes in India by their Education system, habitation, dress and culture. People are following them.

Many of the people of India are shifting in different country because they want to earn more and in India if you have knowledge after that no one can earn up to their desire so people are shifting in abroad. People of India re adopting many different cultures because of this people are differing.

In India government is also following British culture because all the paper work is done in English language.

National integration:

India is a free country and in it unity must be valued by each and every person. The main strength of people is unity. It is a great thing that people of India are family of a great nation. National integration is need of our country by which India can develop. We Indians don't need to adopt anything from other counties.

In modern times the political integration of India has taken place.

Conclusion:

The biggest question of today is how to conserve and make national integration. Oneness without each other is not possible. It takes the contribution of each and every people for national integration. Because of it country can be peaceful and developing.
